

Resuscitation Council UK Advanced Resuscitation of the Newborn Infant (ARNI) Subcommittee Trainee Representative

Job Specification

This voluntary post is an opportunity for an enthusiastic paediatric or neonatal trainee to become involved in shaping Advanced Resuscitation of the Newborn Infant (ARNI) training in the UK.

As a member of the RCUK ARNI Subcommittee, you will be involved in the quality assurance of the national guidelines and training materials for ARNI. You will be able to influence the ARNI course content, training materials and bring an important trainee perspective to this process. Along with subcommittee colleagues, you will have the opportunity to be involved in guidelines revision and course manual updates.

You will also gain experience in quality assurance, liaison with other professional bodies and evaluation of resuscitation science.

We are looking for the right person with the passion to influence who brings specialist skills in newborn resuscitation and is interested in ensuring our work in this area is diverse and inclusive.

You would be expected to attend 3 ARNI meetings a year, which are held at RCUK in London; teleconferencing options are also available. Your employing organisation should be approached to ensure you have their support for attending meetings. Travel expenses to attend meetings are covered.

Applicants must have a minimum of 12 months left in training and must be either an ARNI Instructor or have been nominated as having ARNI Instructor Potential. The tenure of this post is for 2 years or until you finish your training.

If you are interested in this opportunity and would like to discuss it further, please email the ARNI Subcommittee Chair, Dr Joe Fawke on joe.fawke@uhl-tr.nhs.uk.

To apply, please send your CV with a short covering letter explaining why you would like the role to Sue Hampshire, Director of Clinical & Service Development at sue.hampshire@resus.org.uk by 5 February 2021.
